

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

As stated above, Applicants elect Group I, claims 1-7, drawn to a tool head, for further prosecution and respectfully traverse the requirement for restriction for the following reasons:

As an initial matter, Applicants respectfully submit that there is sufficient relationship and unity of the claims as to warrant their examination in one application as claim 11 depends on claim 1, and claims 1 and 8 are directed to the identical inventive idea to use an essentially planar slide bearing.

Moreover, it is believed that any search for the invention embodied in Group I would necessarily include a search for the inventions embodied in Groups II and III. Thus, the simultaneous search for all the groups is believed not to constitute an unreasonable search for the Patent Examiner.

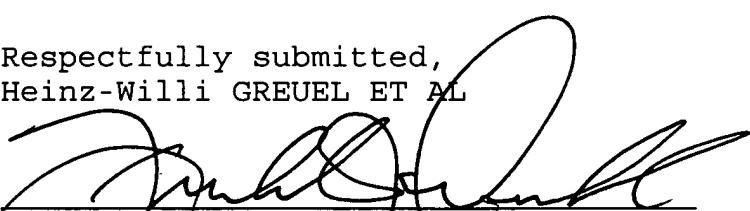

In addition, it is believed that the objectives of streamlined examination and compact prosecution would be promoted if a search were conducted simultaneously for all groups. Also, the necessity of filing multiple patent applications in this case does not serve to promote the public interest because of the extra expense that is involved, in filing fees and examination costs, as well as the burden upon the public, due to the necessity of searching through a multiplicity of patent files in order to find the complete range of the subject matter claimed in several different patents that could otherwise be found in one issued patent only.

Applicants reserve the right to file divisional applications for the non-elected inventions.

For all these reasons, it is respectfully requested that the restriction requirement under 35 U.S.C. 121 be withdrawn and that an action on the merits of all the claims be rendered.

Respectfully submitted,
